Join CCSLI's Workshop!

Join our workshop this October, as we explore the synergy of head movements and non-manual markers in sign language interpreting. This session offers tools and insights to help you recognize how head movements can contribute meaning and cohesion to a message. We'll also examine how those visual elements enhance deeper, more nuanced communication within the Deaf community. Together, we'll look at ways to develop a clearer understanding of effective head movements that can enhance your interpreting. Elevate your awareness, refine your skills, and strengthen your confidence - don't miss this opportunity to learn and be inspired!

Objectives:

This workshop will identify different examples of head movements utilized in ASL, and we will explore why employing head movements lead to a richer, full bodied message brought over to the Deaf Client. Interpreters will be able to develop and retain specific head movements that they can then use in the interpreting field.

By the end of this workshop, participants will...

- Identify and recognize head movements in ASL
- Understand why head movements are a necessary component in ASL, enabling nuanced expressions
- Develop a sense of understanding how to use specific head movements in their field of interpreting

This Activity has been awarded (0.2) CEU's in the area of Professional Studies (PS) by the Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf at the "Some" Content Knowledge for CMP and ACET participants. Partial CEU will not be awared.
